THE N°. 322.

MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

WEDNESDAY, June 26, 1751.

From the JAMAICA COURANT, of January 19, 1750[1].

THERE was ſometime ſince, a Marriage negotiated by Bill of Exchange in one of the Engliſh Iſlands in America; the Circumſtances of which are ſo whimſical, that I believe ſuch of my Readers as have not already heard it, will be diverted with the Relation.

A Merchant, originally come from London, having acquir'd a great Fortune in the Iſland, concluded with himſelf he could not be happy in the Enjoyment of it, unleſs he ſhar'd it with a Woman of Merit; and knowing none to his Fancy, he reſolved to write to a worthy Correſpondent of his at London. He knew no other Stile than that he uſ'd in Trade; therefore treating Affairs of Love as he did his Buſineſs, after giving his Friend, in a Letter, ſeveral Commiſſions, and reſerving this for the laſt, he went on thus: Item, ſeeing that I have taken a Reſolution to marry, and that I do not find a ſuitable Match for me here, do not fail to ſend by the next Ship bound hither, a young Woman of the Qualifications and Form following. As for a Portion I demand none; let her be of an honeſt Family, between 20 and 25 Years of Age, a middle Stature and well-proportioned, her Face agreeable, her Temper mild, her Character blameleſs, her Health good, and her Conſtitution ſtrong enough to bear the Change of Climate, that there be no Occaſion to look out for a Second thro' lack of the Firſt, ſoon after ſhe comes to Hand; which muſt be provided againſt as much as poſſible, conſidering the great Diſtance, and the Dangers of the Sea. If ſhe arrives, and conditioned as aboveſaid, with the preſent Letter indors'd by you, or, at leaſt, an atteſted Copy thereof, that there may be no Miſtake or Impoſition; I hereby oblige and engage myſelf to ſatisfy the ſaid Letter, by marrying the Bearer at 15 Days Sight. In Witneſs whereof, I ſubſcribe this, &c.

The London Correſpondent read over and over the odd Article, which put the future Spouſe on the ſame Foot with the Bales of Goods he was to ſend to his Friend, and after admiring the prudent Exactneſs of the American, and his Laconic Stile, in enumerating the Qualifications he inſiſted on, he endeavoured to ſerve him to his Mind; and after many Enquiries, he judged he had found a Lady fit for his Purpoſe, in a young Perſon of a reputable Family, but no Fortune, of good Humour, and of a polite Education, well ſhap'd, and more than tolerably handſome; he made the Propoſal to her, as his Friend had directed; and the young Gentlewoman, who had no Subſiſtance but from a croſs old Aunt, who gave her a great deal of Uneaſineſs, accepted it. A Ship bound for that Iſland was then fitting out at Briſtol; the Gentlewoman went on board the ſame, together with the Bales of Goods, being well provided with all Neceſſaries, and particularly with a Certificate in due Form, and indorſed by the Correſpondent. She was alſo included in the Invoice, the laſt Article of which ran thus; Item, a Maid of 25 Years of Age, of the Quality, Shape, and conditioned as per Order, as appears by the Affidavits and Certificates ſhe has to produce. Writings which were thought neceſſary to ſo exact a Man as the future Huſband, were an Extract of the Pariſh Regiſter, a Certificate of her Character ſigned by the Curate, an Atteſtation of her Neighbours, ſetting forth, that ſhe had liv'd, for the Space of three Years, with an old Aunt, who was intolerably peeviſh, and had not, during all that Time, given her ſaid Aunt the leaſt Occaſion of Complaint. And laſtly, the Goodneſs of her Conſtitution was certified, after Conſultation, by four noted Phyſicians. Before the Gentlewoman's Departure, the London Correſpondent ſent ſeveral Letters of Advice by other Ships to his Friend, whereby he informed him, that per ſuch a Ship, he ſent him a young Woman, of ſuch an Age, Character and Condition, &c. in a Word ſuch as he deſired to marry. The Letters of Advice, the Bales, and the Gentlewoman, came ſafe to the Port; and our American, who happened to be one of the Foremoſt upon the Pier, at the Lady's Landing, was charmed to ſee a handſome Perſon, who having heard him call'd by his Name, told him, Sir, I have a Bill of Exchange upon you, and you know that it is not uſual for People to carry a great deal of Money about them, in ſuch a long Voyage as I have now made; I beg the Favour you would be pleaſed to pay it. At the ſame Time ſhe gave him his Correſpondent's Letter, on the Back of which was writ, The Bearer of this is the Spouſe you ordered me to ſend you. Ha, Madam! ſaid the American, I never yet ſuffered my Bills to be proteſted, and I ſwear this ſhall not be the firſt: I ſhall reckon myſelf the moſt fortunate of all Men if you allow me to diſcharge it. Yes, Sir, replied ſhe, and the more willingly, ſince I am appriz'd of your Character; we had ſeveral Perſons of Honour on board, who knew you very well, and who during my Paſſage, have anſwered all the Queſtions I aſked them concerning you, in ſo advantageous a Manner, that it has raiſed in me a perfect Eſteem for you. This firſt Interview was in a few Days after followed with their Nuptials, which were very magnificent. The new-married Couple are ſatisfied with their happy Union, made by a Bill of Exchange; which was the moſt fortunate that had happened in that Iſland for many Years.

From the Paris A-la-main, March 26.

ON Monday laſt, being the Anniverſary of the Reduction of the City of Paris, to the Obedience of King Henry IV. the Chapter belonging to Notre Dame, went in Proceſſion to the Church of the Grand Auguſtine; and performed divine Service, at which the Archbiſhop of Paris himſelf officiated in his pontifical Veſtments.

The ſeveral Pariſhes of this City likewiſe went in Proceſſion in due Form, firſt to the Church de Notre Dame, and afterwards to that of the Auguſtine Friars, where they attended the public Prayers appointed for that particular Solemnity.

Extract of a Letter from Waterford, in Ireland, dated March 24.

The Linnen Trade, which was introduced in this Place in the Year 1746, has increaſed to ſuch a Degree, as ſurpaſſes our moſt ſanguine Hopes! and amongſt the many good Conſequences attending ſo valuable a Manufacture to the Poor (which are very apparent to us, who live upon the Spot) it is gaining Place of the Woollen Manufacture, now carried on to a great Extent in this Country, tho' under ſo many Reſtraints; and if Liberty was granted to export ſtrip'd and check'd Linnens from this Kingdom, the Woollen Manufactures in England, I am perſuaded, would ſoon find the Benefit of it. The People here muſt eat, and it is the ſame Thing to them, whether they get their Bread from the Linnen or Woollen Manufacture; one of them, I think, they ought to have without Reſtraint, otherwiſe they muſt keep what Share they can of both.

Liſbon, Feb. 14. It is impoſſible to expreſs the Bleſſings which all Ranks of People beſtow upon the King, for having begun to ſet Bounds to the uſurped Power of the infernal Tribunal of the Inquiſition. It is hoped that his Majeſty will not reſt there; for if he would prohibit the Confiſcation of Goods, no Body would be condemned in that Court.

Hague, Feb. 20. We have Aſſurance that France takes the utmoſt Pains to bring the Barbary Republics into her Intereſt, and to that End has made certain advantageous Propoſitions to them; them, and that she would amply indemnify them for any Losses they might sustain in breaking with Great Britain. We are also assur'd, that the British Court preceiving this Negotiation, has changed its Tone in regard to these Africans, and has ordered Mr. Keppel to pass over certain Pretensions, and to do every Thing in his Power to defeat the Design of the French.

Tunis, Feb. 10. By the Dutch Gazettes it appears, that the French Court claims Part of the Island of St. Martin, one of the Caribbees, which they say, was possessed in common by the French and Dutch, but the former were driven out by the English in the late War; therefore his most Christian Majesty desires that his Subjects may be again put in Possession of that Part of the Island which they formerly held, and that the English be order'd to evacuate the same. The Marquis de Mirepoix has delivered a Memorial in Consequence to our Court, and 'tis supposed that the French will not evacuate Tobago, St. Lucia, and St. Vincent, till they are gratified in this Point.

From the Utrecht Gazette.

Extract of a Letter from London, dated March 26. N. S.

A grand Conference is appointed to be held the 30th Instant at the Duke of Bedford's; where will be present, the principal Members of the Privy Council, in order to consider of certain Propositions that are to be made to the Court of Spain, for obviating once for all the Difficulties to which the Commerce and Navigation of the English in the American Seas, are exposed, notwithstanding the Stipulations in the Treaty signed at Madrid the 5th of October last. At the same Conference or Council, they are likewise to enquire into the Validity and Seizure of 21 English Vessels, taken by the Spaniards in the Bay of Honduras, as we mentioned some Time ago: For though these Captures make a great Noise, and make great murmuring, the Ministry will not take it upon them to make Complaints at Madrid, without first enquiring with what Design those Vessels sailed into the Gulph or Bay of Honduras, who were the Owners of them, what Goods they had on Board, and whether it can be clearly proved that they were sent upon the contraband Trade? And if it shall appear that the Seizure was illegal, and that their being employed in a contraband Trade was only a Pretext of the Spaniards to detain them, 'tis not doubted, but that the Affair will be seriously prosecuted at the Court of Madrid, as in this Case one may expect full Satisfaction from that Court, pursuant to the Promise made to Mr. Keene.

LONDON.

Extract of a Letter from Gosport, dated March 7.

There is a Gentleman just arrived here from France, who relates that he had been at several Ports there, and saw thirty new Ships almost ready for launching, from 50 to 70 Guns, and great Numbers repairing. In his Way to this Place he came thro' Dunnan, where they were repairing and enlarging the Prison where the English Prisoners are kept, and as he came down the River from Dunnan there were a great many more Ships building.

March 8. We are assured, that the Alteration of the Stile of the Year will take Place the first of next January, and that that will be the first Day of the Year 1752; that eleven Days will be taken out of that Year at Michaelmas following; that all State Holidays will be observed on the same Day of the Month they are at present; that Payments will be made according to the Number of Days, counting from their Date. The Table of Moveable Feasts is made by Dr. Bradley. We are to reckon by the Gregorian Stile, and all Quarterly Payments are to be made at the four great Feasts, as usual.

March 22. From Brest we have Advice, that three Ships of 64 Guns each, and four Frigates, are equipt in that Port, and the Command of them given to M. Du Bois de la Mothe; but the Destination of this Squadron is not yet known; some think it is bound for America, and others imagine it will be sent up the Baltic.

The Floods are so very great up the River Thames, that the like has not been for many Years, occasioned by the high Winds and Rains, that the Barges that come to Town pass over several Meadows and Lands, in some Places a Quarter of a Mile Distance from the Channel; by which many have with great Difficulty escaped being overset by the strong Currency of the Land Flood.

March 25. From Madrid they write, that Orders have lately been sent down to their Sea Ports, to proceed with the utmost Diligence in their Naval Armaments: They also take Notice, that the British and French Ministers are very assiduous at Court, and frequently conser with M. de Carvajal about the general Affairs of Europe, and the Interest of their respective Courts.

Letters from Hanover advise, that they continue to raise Recruits with the utmost Diligence, all the Regiments being ordered to be complete before the End of next Month.

April 15. Last Saturday Night was solemnized the private Interment of his Royal Highness FREDERICK Prince of WALES. The Procession was from the Prince's Chamber, through the Old Palace Yard to the South East Door of Westminster Abby, and being entered the Church, it passed up directly to the Steps leading to Henry the Seventh's Chapel. At the Entrance within the Church, the Dean and Prebendaries, attended by the Choir, received the Body, and fell into the Procession just before the Officer of Arms, who preceded the Master of the Horse, and so proceeded into King Henry the Seventh's Chapel, where the Body was deposited on Tressels, the Coronet and Cushion being laid at the Head, and the Canopy held over it: The Supporters of the Pall stood by it, the Chief Mourner and his Two Supporters seated themselves in Chairs placed for them at the Head of the Corpse, the Lords Assistants, Master of the Horse, Groom of the Stole, and Lords of the Bed Chamber on both Sides, the Four white Staff Officers standing at the Feet, and others seated themselves in the Stalls on each Side of the Choir. The Part of the Service before the Interment, being read by the Bishop of Rochester, Dean of Westminster, the Corpse was carried to the Vault preceded by the White Staff Officers, the Master of the Horse, Chief Mourner, his Supporters, and the Assistants following, Garter going before them, and there placed themselves near the Vault, the Dean of Westminster went on with the Office of Burial, which ended, Garter King at Arms proclaimed the Stile of his Royal Highness, and the white Staff Officers broke their Staves, and threw them into the Vault.

During the Procession, which begun about Half an Hour after Eight o'Clock, the Minute Guns were fired, and the Bells in the Cities of London and Westminster tolled; and each Soldier on Duty held two white Flambeaux lighted.

BOSTON, May 27.

Wednesday last, in Consequence of an Appointment from his Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief, and the honourable his Majesty's Council, public Notice was taken of the Death of his Royal Highness FREDERICK Prince of Wales. At Nine of the Clock in the Morning, all the Bells in Town began to toll, and continued tolling till Ten (the Colours on board all the Ships in the Harbour being displayed) at which Time the Lieutenant Governor, with the Members of his Majesty's Council, the late Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Officers Civil and Military, and a numerous Train of other Gentlemen, all in deep Mourning, went in Procession from the Council-Chamber to the old South Meeting-House: They were preceded by the Governor's Company of Cadets, under the Command of Colonel Pollard, in military Mourning, and with Arms reversed, the Drum, Colours, and Officers Staves covered with Black, at the Company's Expence. The March was solemn, and the Streets and Windows of the Houses were thronged with Spectators, silent, and with Sorrow in their Countenances. At the Meeting-House there was a crowded Assembly, the Pulpit was hung in Mourning, and a Sermon suitable to the Occasion, preached by the Reverend Mr. Samuel Mather. At the same Time, and upon the same Occasion, by a Vote of the Wardens and Vestry of King's Chapel, the Pulpit there was hung in black, and a suitable Sermon preached by the Reverend Mr. Caner. After divine Service was ended, the Procession returned to the Town-House, in the same Order they went from thence; and during their March and a considerable Time after, the Guns from his Majesty's Castle William, his Majesty's Ship Success, and the Forts of Boston and Charlestown, were fired in a Manner proper for funeral Solemnities. The Company of Cadets then drew up in King-Street, facing the Council Chamber, and after three Fires were led off and dismissed.—Nor was the Mourning confined to an outward Shew only, and the Pomp of Funeral Ceremonies; but our Grief was real, and our Sorrow sincere and unaffected. Loyalty to the best of Kings, to whom we wish every Blessing that can make a Monarch great and happy, filled us with the deepest Concern for the Loss which so nearly touched him. Our Attachment to civil and religious Liberty, of which we always regard the House of Hanover as the firmest Bulwark, makes us esteem a Breach upon This, as a common Loss to be regretted by every Protestant. As Englishmen, we mixed our Tears with those of the mourning Nation, what the kind and generous Sentiments which the Prince had expreſſed for New-England, called forth our warmeſt Gratitude. His amiable, his endearing Character, for Love to Mankind, for Conjugal Affection, for a moſt tender paternal Care of his Royal Offspring, touched every Soul that had any Senſe of Humanity. In a Word, our Grief was great and univerſal, from Duty, Gratitude and every virtuous Tie, we reverenc'd the Prince, and we loved the Man.

mixed
